

Accessing Life and Professional Experiences

What threads of life experience can you draw on to weave into your new kete of study experiences?

Leading learning at home, with whānau, in the community

On the job and work place learning

Previous study experiences at school and university

Supporting development and growth in the community

